KANSAS CITY LIVE STOCK MAR-

Kansas City Stock Yards, May 31 .-Receipts of quarantine cattle here last week were moderate at 200 car loads, and the market closed the week 10 to 15 higher than close of previous week. Run of quarantines today is extra heavy at 210 car loads, market 10 lower. The supply today comes from a wide expanse of territory, embracing, Texas, Louislana, Oklahoma and Arkansas, and the quality is likewise greatly diversified. Steers range from $6.40 for the best fed steers down to $4.25 for low grade grassers and fair to good cows sell at $3.75 to $4.80, calves 50 cents higher than a week ago, best $6.75. The native territory has been pretty well combed of fed cattle, and the liberal supply today finds a more ready sale on account of fears of buyers that future receipts to 15 cents below the best time, average prices for the week were highest celebration of the American College of the year, and top price $7.50 was also highest for this year, and the best price paid here in the last six years. Run is 11.00 head today, market five higher on heavy hogs, 5 to 10 higher on medium and light weights top $7,35, bulk $6,85 to $7,30, including all weights. May receipts of hogs show a shortage of 50,000 head from same month a year ago, or 14 per cent and predictions of a heavy June movement are not made with as much fervor or confidence as a few weeks

The extraordinary prices do not seem to intimidate a sufficient number of consumers to cut down most sales greatly and the shortage supplies for May, 29, 000 head or 17 per cent. from last week, is a strengthening feature. A BASHFUL LOVER.

The Professor Was a Shy Woosr, but Finally Got the Lady.

Dr. Haldane, at one time a professor of St. Andrews university, was a very shy man. This latter falling prevented him from asking any lady to become his wife until he was well advanced

However, he plucked up courage one day, redecorated his house and went to call on the object of his affections.

The lady, seeing the doctor's embarrassment, opened fire. "Weel, doctor, hae ye got through a' your papering and painting yet? I'm told your new carpets are just beautifu'. They say the pattern o' the dining room chairs is just quite out o' the way. In short, that everything about the house is just perfect." Here was a providential opening be was not such a goose as to overlook. He advanced his chair, sidled toward her, simpering the while, raised his eyes furtively to her face and said, with a gentle inflection of his voice which no ear but a willfully deaf one good condition, and is gradually ex- province of Treviso, on June 2, 1834 could have misinterpreted: "Na, na, Miss Jane, It's no quite perfect. It canna' be quite that so long as there's one thing wanting!" "And what can that be?" asked the imperturbable spinster. Utterly thrown on his beam ends by her willful blindness to his meaning. the poor doctor bent a hasty retreat. drew back his chair from its dangerous proximity, caught up his hat and in tones of blighted hope gasped forth his declaration in these words: "Eh. dear, eh! Well I'm sure! The thing wanting is a-a-a-sideboard."

However, she married him after all. -London Answers.

THE WORD "FELLOW."

Its Course From the Universities Into Everyday Life.

The word bachelor means originally "cowboy," a youth who looked after the cow, from the low Latin bacca and through the classical Latin vacca. In course of time the term was given in scorn to voluntarily unwedded men by ladles who had sharp tongues The word was taken over by the universities in the middle ages, and the degree of bachelor was not supposed to be given to any man who had entered into the state of matrimony.

The word "fellow" has had a somewhat similar fate as far as the ladies and the universities were concerned. The universities of Oxford and Cambridge, to name but two, grant fellowships worth from $1,500 to $3,000 per annum at the various colleges to unmarried bonor graduates of high distinction. If a fellow should enter into matrimony he still loses or forfeits his fellowship. As the "fellows" Texas, says: The first symptom of tence or at least comfort in regard to hidney disense in my case was back- living and dress, they readily attracted if is become so had that I could hard ing of settling down in life. When by attend to my work. My rest was an acquaintanceship was formed be-nifed and as the result I was always tween a "fellow" and a marriageble lady things usually went very defightfully until the fair schemer discovered the academic status of the man. Then the expression "Pooh, he is a fellow!" came very naturally to her ilps. And day, intended to invest the money in other persons in need of a klatter begat its nokind meaning. Hut, of course, if the graduate was willing to sacrifice his rellowship and its emoluments for the sake of the fair lady's lovely eyes and favors-why, he be came a "good fellow," which is a horse of a totally different color.-New York
